This is the month where we celebrate FEAR. Halloween is fun, but real fears aren't. The best way to overcome fear is to make a plan. What fears are you facing right now, and how can you make a plan to conquer them?

One thing you don't have to fear is your family's financial future. That is if you have the right plan in place to protect them. Do you?

Don't leave your estate to fate; make a plan to safeguard your family and alleviate their fears.

Let us know if we can help!

Who will serve as their "temporary guardian" in the event that your long-term guardian isn't available immediately? Specify a few additional temporary guardians in the event that the long-term guardian isn't available. Make sure to talk with loved ones about your wishes and ensure those you choose as guardians are up to the task.

When choosing a long-term guardian, consider who will not only love your children but also raise them with your beliefs in mind. Where will the children live, and how will they be taken care of financially?

When it comes to your children, nothing should be left to fate. The sooner you have a plan for the unforeseen, the better off everyone will be.

We can assist with this process—please reach out to us if you'd like our help!

We're here to help with your estate planning needs. If you have questions or if you'd like to schedule a consultation, please call us at 404-419-7155 or click here: https://www.elderlawgeorgia.com/
